

Relative pronoun ‘which’:-

➤ If the antecedent of the relative pronoun is a clause , use relative pronoun ‘which’

Aman sir breaks each sentence into parts of speech that is the best part of his teaching.

Rajat always blames others for his failures that is not liked by his friends.

Aryans had horses in their army that was the main reason for their victory over the people of Harrapan Civilisation.

Sonali is watching a movie.

The news was very shocking.

Rohan stopped smoking.

The teacher punished him for shouting loudly.

They have pacified the fighting bulls.

Sleeping on the floor was the main reason for your back pain.

They helped the wounded soldiers.

I want to sleep on the floor.

They killed the sleeping child.

She started singing a song.

Aman likes teaching English.

1. Be (verb) (helping verb) + V1+ing (action verb)
2. Be (verb) (main verb) + V1+ing (adjective)
3. Helping verb (×) + V1+ing (Gerund) + Noun (×)
4. Helping verb (×) + V1+ing (present participle) + Noun (If it is doer of V1+ing)
5. Helping verb (×) + V1+ing (gerund) + Noun (If it is receiver of V1+ing)

She wants to watch a movie.

They expelled him from the school for breaking the window.

They pacified the fighting bulls by throwing water on them.

They protected themselves by taking shelter behind a tree.

Smoking cigarettes causes cancer and many other diseases.

I have already decided to join the batch.

To blame others for his failures has been Rahul's habit.